

The Mint of the United States,

AT

PHILADELPHIA, PENN.,

Assay Department, May 6, 1880.

Sir

In reply to your inquiry of this date, we keep note of absences which extend to a whole day; but not for small fractions of a day. These last are ~~so~~ seldom asked for, even for a meal; and I did not suppose the rule was so stringent.

In regard to procuring written leave of absence, from the Superintendent, this has been attended to, in cases of usual allowance; though not for so short a time as one day. We have so few employees in this department, that we can easily observe the movements of each one, and keep all faithful to their duties; of which I am happy to render a good account.

Very respectfully
W. E. DuBois
Assayer
